Tariff Reduction Bill Will Be Framed on Tuesday and Submitted to Caurus the following Day -A Compromise Provision That Will satisfy Reet Sugar Men.

WASHINGTON, June 14.-Although the teet sugar Senators will not admit it, they know it to be a fact that President Roosevelt's message to Congress yesterday has leared the situation to such an extent that it is now practically certain that the Republicans in the Senate will, within the next few days, get together in support of Cuban reciprocity tariff reduction bill. There were no formal conferences to-day, but there was a great deal of discussion between Senators and Representatives with a view of ascertaining how much of a fight will be made against the programme of the Republican leaders. That programme involves a meeting of the Senate Committee on Cuban Relations on Tues day, at which the precise terms of a tariff reduction bill will be arranged, to be submitted to the caucus on the following day.

Those of the beet sugar Senators who would talk to-day for publication said that they are now more reconciled to the prospects of a bill reducing the Cuban ariff than they were before the President sent in his message. The radicals among te group of Senators, however, are endeavoring to get an agreement to vote or the bill just as it passed the House of Rep-

Their argument is that the President appears anxious only for a bill that reduces the rates of duty on Cuban imports into the United States, and therefore he would the willing to have the House bill passed, netwithstanding that it abolishes the differential rate on refined sugar, this having been added to the bill in the House for the express purpose of defeating it in the Senate. The Republican Senators who are sup-porting the bill agreed to by the Cuban committee profess to be ready for the test of a vote on the House bill, feeling confident that the be sugar Senators would not make good their threat to vote with the Democrats and pass it. very good reason that nearly all, if not quite all, of the so-called beet sugar Senators all, of the so-called heet sugar Senarors will have made their peace with the ma-jority before the caucus is held, as it will be arranged in advance for the insertion in the bill to be reported a clause which will furnish them a means of escape from the awkward predicament in which they find themselves by being placed in opposition awkward predicament in which they find themselves by being placed in opposition to the majority of their party colleagues. This compromise provision will be talked over and discussed by the leaders on both sides between now and Monday, when it will be submitted to the beet sugar Senators, who are expected as a body to indorse it. The object of the compromise provision will be to make more than ever stringent the language guarding against the possibility of the Sugar Trust being benefited by the reduction of the tariff rates, and setting forth that so far as possible the interting forth that so far as possible the inter-ests of the beet sugar industry of the United States shall be safe guarded.

COURT-MARTIAL FOR CAPT. RYAN. He Is Charged With Cruelty to Prisoners

WASHINGTON, June 14. Secretary Root to-day cabled Gen. Chaffee at Manila, directing the trial by court-martial of Capt. James A. Ryan of the Fifteenth Cavalry. The order for the court was made by direc tion of the President and he will be therefore, the reviewing authority before whom the case will come for final disposition. The court is directed to meet in Manila

The charges against Capt Ryan are con-'ained in a report filed at the War Depart-ment by Gov. Taft and involves Capt Eyan's conduct as post commander at Jimenez, Mindanao, where he had under his charge nearly a hundred prisoners. Capt. Ryan accused some of the prisoners of treason, and in securing evidence to support his charges, is said to have resorted to cruel methods. The report says that he was responsible for the return of a number of friars into his province, thereby creating much dissatisfaction among the inhabi-tante and also charges him with building a large stockade of betel nut trees, using several thousand trees. These trees do not grow spontaneously and are considered great value by the natives. Regarding the charges of cruelty it is Regarding the charges aid that one prisoner was stood up erect upon a wooden floor and had his legs knocked from under him. His head was knocked from under him. His head was then jolted against the floor and he was later stood upon his head in a turket of the purpose of securing infor-

Accepts Invitation to Attend Illinois State Fair.

WASHINGTON, June 14 - Senator Cullorn and a delegation of officers of the Illinois State Fair Association called on President Roosevelt this morning to deliver the formal lavitation for him to attend the fair at Springfield next fall. The President acpited the invitation, saying that he would glad to be present on Oct. 2. Senator Foraker of Ohio also invited the President to attend the fair in Cincinnati on Sept. 27, but Mr. Roosevelt said that the date would not be convenient. It is probable that another date, acceptable to the President, will be selected.

FIGHT FOR CUBA NEARLY WON. PEDERAL CLEEKS GET HOUR OFF. Cabinet Settles the Question of & o'Clock Saturday Closing in the Usual Way.

WASHINGTON, June 14 .- The annual agitation over closing the executive D partments at 3 o'clock on Saturdays during the ho weather has resulted in the usual way, discretion being given each Cabinet officer o permit all the employees of his Department "who can be spared without detriment to the service" to leave their duties an hour earlier on the last day of the week

It took a long discussion at yesterday's Cabinet meeting to bring about this result. Owing to the discovery several years ago that the law required clerks to stay at their desks from 9 until 4 on week days. the old practice of having the President issue an executive order for a general 3 o'clock closing was a andoned, and since then each head of a D partment has sent around word that "those who can be spared" then each head of a D-partment has sent around word that "those who can be spared" could go.

Heretofore "those who can be spared" meant everybody, and does yet in all the Departments except the Navy. When Secretary Moody sent out his early-closing order to-day, it had a string attached to it, requiring that the names of those who left at 3 o'clock should be reported to the chief clerk. This frightened many employees and they did not leave until 4 o'clock, the regular closing hour. The object of having these reports made is to give the clerk a black mark on his efficiency record, which will lessen his chance for promotion. The clerks in the Navy Department are indignant over the discrimination against when the order was read to them.

FOR THE ANNEXATION OF CUBA

MR. ELKINS INTRODUCES A RESO-LUTION IN THE SENATE.

It Proposes to Erect the New Republic Into a State, to Be Called the State of Cuba, Under Certain Conditions and Guarantees The Terms of Admission.

WASHINGTON, June 14 .- In the Senate this morning Mr. Elkins (Rep., W. Va.) introduced the following joint resolution providing for the annexation of the Republic of Cuba to the United States, and it was laid on the table

That Congress doth consent that the terriproperly included within, and rightfully belonging to the Republic of Cuba. may be erected into a new State, to be called the State of Cuba, with a republican form government, to be adopted by the people of said republic, by deputies in convention assembled, with the consent of the existing Government, in order that the same may be admitted as one of the States of this Union.

That the foregoing consent of Congress is iven upon the following conditions and with the following guarantees, to wit: First—The Constitution of said State with the proper evidence of its adoption by the people of said Republic of Cuba, shall be transmitted to the President of the United States, to be laid before Congress for its final action, on or before the first day of January, 1991

final action, on or before the first day of January, 1901

Second—Said State, when admitted into the Union, after ceding to the United States all public edifices, fortifications, harracks, ports and harbors, navy and navy yards, docks, magazines, arms, armanents and all other property and means pertaining to the public defence belonging to said Republic of Cuba, shall retain all the public funds, debts, taxes and dues of every kind, which may belong to or be due and owing said republic, and shall also retain all the yacant and unappropriated lands lying within its limits, to be applied to the payment of the debts and liabilities of said Republic of Cuba, and the residue of said lands, after discharging said debts and liabilities, to be disposed of as said State may direct but in no event are said debts and liabilities to become a charge upon the diovernment of the United States. upon the Government of the United States.
That if the President of the United States.
That if the president and discretion, deem That if the President of the United States shall, in his judgment and discretion, deem it most advisable instead of proceeding to submit the foregoing resolution to the Republic of Cuba, as an overture on the part of the United States for admission, to nerestate with that republic then, that a State to be formed out of the present Republic of Cuba, with a republican form of government and with representatives in Congress, shall be admitted into the Union, by virtue of this act, on an equal footing with the existing States, as soon as the terms and conditions of such admission shall be agreed upon by the Governments of the Republic of Cuba and the United States, and that the sum of Sion, one be, and the same is, hereby appropriated to defray the expenses of missions and negotiations to agree upon the terms of admission and cession, either by treaty to be submitted to the Senate, or by prices to be submitted to the two houses of Congress, as the President may direct.

Senator Elkins said he had not consulted his colleagues of the beet sugar contingent, and had offered the resolution of his own While the resolution is regarded as a joke. Senator Elkins declared he offered it in good faith and that he will later address the Senate in support of the proposition.

$30,000 SAVED TO PELL HEIRS. To Transfer Tax on the Property That Passed Under a Will of 1808.

Wakten Pell, who was in business in the firm of Peil & Co. of Hanover Square, invested in the early 50s in parcels of property at Broadway near Forty-first street and on the west side of Sixth avenue at Twenty-first and Twenty-second streets. He died in 1863, leaving a will that gave he widow, Orleana R. E. Pell, a life interest in his estate, with remainder over to nephews and nieces and their heirs. Mrs. Pell died in Paris in 1899 and proceedings were begun to divide up the estate among the collateral relatives. During the long widowhood of Mrs. Pell it was found the estate had increased at a great rate. Mr Pell had paid but $12,500 for the northwest corner of Twenty-second street and Sixth avenue, but in partition proceedings after the death of Mrs. Pell the parcel sold for $277,000. The money originally invested in all the properties was under $100,000 and the property sold for more than a million.

When the estate was about to be divided

When the estate was about to be divided up after these sales the State stepped in and asked for a collateral inheritance tax of 5 per cent. Payment was resisted on the ground that when Mr. Pell died there was no such tax, and it was urged that the Legislature could not impose a t x on interests vested under a will protated before the tax was imposed. ELough money was set aside to provide for the payment of this tax and costs and the rest interests vested under a will protected before the tax was imposed. ELough money was set aside to provide for the payment of this tax and costs and the rest of the estate was divided. Litigation then began over the tax.

The lower courts decided that the interests The lower ccurts decided that the interests of these collateral relatives were liable to the tax because their shares were not to be possessed by them until after the Collateral Liberitance law went into effect. The position of the State was that the tax was on transfers of property and the transfer here did not take effect until the death of the widow. Lawyers Anderson, Pendicton & Anderson carried the case to the Court of Appeals, which recently held that the tax could not be imposed on interests the tax could not be imposed on interests vested before the Inheritance Tax law, although by amendment to the transfer tax part of the tax law it was specifically provided that the tax should be imposed on remainders which had not gone to the remainder men before the passage of he amendment

Under an order of Justice Blanchard a division of the fund reserved for the possible payment of the tax will be made

CONFERENCES AT HANNA'S HOUSE Distinguished Guests Discuss Bridge Whist and Corned Beef Hash

WASHINGTON, June 14 - Two important conferences have been held at the residence of Senator Hanna on Lafayette Square during the last twenty-four hours. The first one took place last night and was attended by Senator Mark A. Hanna of Ohio, Senator Nelson W. Aldrich of Rhode Island, Senator George C. Perkins of California, Secretary of War Elihu Root of New York, Postmaster-General Henry C. Payne of Wisconsin and Miss Phelps of Ohio, Mrs. Hanna's sister.

The conference met in an upstairs room at the Senator's house and was continued until after midnight. The subject discussed was bridge whist, of which Senator Hanna is very fond, but which be gets little opportunity to play in Washington, owing to the great pressure of his Senatorial and other duties. There was no mystery about this conference, as it was plainly visible through the open windows to that portion of the public that walked by Lafayette Square while it was in progress. The second conference took place this morning in a downstri's room of the same resi ience. It began at half past 8 and lasted until half past 10. Those present were Senator Hanna, Secretary Root, Postmaster-General Payne and Miss Phelps. This time the matter being considered was corned beef hash, for which the Hanna household is famous. Mr. Hanna says that his guests, hearing that he was serving breakfasts now to friends whose wives are out of town, invited themselves, and that they enjoyed the breakfast very much and declared the hash to be everllent. The conference met in an upstairs room hat they enjoyed the breakfast very much and declared the hash to be excellent. Senator Hanna left town this evening for Cleveland to attend his daughter's wedding on Monday, and will return in time to make the closing speech in oppo-sition to the Nicaragua Canal bill and in avor of the Panama route on Wednesday

DEWEY TO COMMAND THE FLEET

HE WILL DIRECT THE MANCEU-VRES IN THE WEST INDIES.

President Roosevelt Desires to Witness the War Game and May Go. Although He Would Be Absent Three Weeks The Olympia May Be the Flagship.

WASHINGTON, June 14 At the urgent personal request of President Roosevelt and Secretary Moody, Admiral Dewey has consented to take command of the big fleet which will engage in manœuvres the West Indies next winter. The President and the Secretary of the Navy regarded it as appropriate that an officer of high rank should have charge of the fleet, and they were gratified over the enthusiastic interest shown by Admiral Dewey when it was suggested to him that he go to sea

The fleet will bethe largest ever assem bled by the United States in time of peace It will consist of the North Atlantic squadron, the European squadron and the South Atlantic squadron, with a torpedo boat flo tilia and necessary colliers, provision ships, a hospital ship, a repair ship, a distilling ship and water barges. There will be four divisions, commanded by Rear Admirals F. J. Higginson, G. W. Sumner, A. S. Crowninshield and J. B. Coghlan. President Roosevelt is very anxious to attend these manœuvres and has said so to those with whom he has talked on the subject. If he can possibly witness them he will do so. He has had the matter of going under consideration, but the time when they will begin is so far away that he will postpone making his decision until just before the manœuvres are begun Congress will be in session then, and this may prevent the President from leaving Washington. No President of the United States has ever been beyond its limits during his term of office, except on one occasion, when Grover Cleveland went some distance out to sea in a cruise on E. C. Benedict's yacht. The Constitution does not forbid the President leaving the limits of the United States, but for reasons of sentiment or the feeling that they should not take any chances, none of the Presi-dents has ever stepped foot on foreign

dents has ever stepped foot on foreign soil while serving his term.

The manœuvres will take place in the vicinity of Culebra Island, near Porto Rico, or Guantanamo, Cuba. The three squadrons are to meet at one of these places about Jan. 1, 1963. Should President Roosevelt go he must necessarily be absent from Washington for at least three weeks, and this would give him only a week with the ships. So long an absence from the United States would probably necessitate the designation of an acting President, the designation of an acting President, and Secretary Hay, being next in the line of succession, would have this unique honor. The cruiser Mayflower, formerly the yacht

The cruiser Mayflower, formerly the yacht of Ogden Goelet, is being fitted at the Brooklyn navy vard for the President's use, and she would carry him and the members of his party to the West Indies.

It has been practically decided by Secretary Moody that he will witness the West Indian maneuvres, and he has invited Chairman Cannon of the House Committee on Appropriations, Chairman Hale of the Senate Committee on Naval Affairs and Chairman Foss of the House Committee on Naval Affairs to go with him. Other members of Congress will be invited. The object in inviting Senators and Repreobject in inviting Senators and Repre-sentatives is to let them see for themselves the state of efficiency of the navy in its

the state of efficiency of the have preparation for war.

Admiral Dewey has not selected his flagship, but it will probably be the cruiser Olympia, in which he led the way into Manila Bay on May 1, 1898. The Olympia was the flagship of Rear Admiral Higginson up to June 9, when he transferred his flag temporarily to the battleship Kearsarge. The only two other officers who served as Admirals of the Navy, Farragut and Porter, never went to sea after they and Porter, never went to sea after that been detached from war service.

Admiral Dowey's health has improved greatly, and, as a high official expressed it this evening. he is showing as much en-thusiasm over naval affairs as a young lieutenant." It has been generally sup-posed that he did not care for active ser-vice again, but at the Navy Department this is declared to be an error. The statement was made this afternoon by an officer who had knowledge of the Admiral's views that he is very much pleased over the opportunity of going to sea. The West Indian manœuvres will last about two months, ending early in March.

President Roosevelt will probably not be able to attend the war game to be played at the eastern entrance to Long Island Sound in August and September by the North Atlantic Squadron, the Coast Artillery and Naval Militta and National Guard organizations. He had intended to see the game, but private reasons will presee the game, but private reasons will pre-vent him from doing so. Secretary Moody will attend. The naval force to be engaged will be commanded by Rear Admiral Hig-

NEGRESS STABS POLICEMAN.

He's Wixson. Who Figured in the Foody Precinct Revolt - Not Badly Hurt. Policeman Charles Wixson of the West Thirty-seventh street station, who at the time of the "revolt" in Capt. Foody's precinct was credited with being a leader in the movement, arrested Amelia Johnson. a negress, at Thirty-third street and Seventh avenue early yesterday morning. The woman refused to go away when ordered.

When Wixson took her by the arm t ead her to the station she pulled a penknife and stabbed him. The blade struck the policeman's shield, glanced off and then cut through his coat and entered his breast just above the heart

The woman was taken in charge by another policernan while Wixson was sent to Roosevelt Hospital in an ambulance. He police court against and she was held without bail to await the result of his injuries. The policeman was
